

ROTARY RAMBLE

I loved Mary Lockwood’s opening thought – “The way to have a balanced outlook is to have a chip on both shoulders”. Winston Churchill (or was that another Winston).

Bob Jollands Flat White project was a hot money raiser collecting $721.10.

Members are asked to keep RoseMary informed when they are on holiday to make it easier to allocate duties etc. It’s not mandatory, it’s just courteous.

Shelter Box will be the benefactor for “Guess Who’s Coming to Dinner”. Keep August 12 free. It’s a great way to really get to know fellow members.

Their concentration was amazing.

And people play this silly game for fun!

It sure feels good to be in a winning team.

It is timely to remind everyone what “Duties” actually entail. And, if you can’t do it yourself ask someone else to do it. When my students can’t manage a task I normally ask them if I should phone Mum.

Meet and Greet

You need to arrive early for this one. I would suggest about twenty past five.

Your task is to greet members/guests And to give them their badges - in the storage cupboard - or a name label in the case of guests.

Ask a member of the Club to look after a visitor, if s/he is not attending as the guest of a member.

Looking after a visitor is THE most important job that there is. New members note that we are a friendly lot. And, guests may be potential members.

Having Fun was certainly the theme for last night’s meeting. Most of us were so bad that it was a case of laugh or cry.

Congratulations to Turangi. The smallest club beat the vast majority of our three combined clubs.
